

Bringing an entirely new experience to the presenter!...

Wherever you are presenting, you can be in total control of your presentation material and concentrate completely on communicating your message to your audience.

3touch Personal is a software application for people who frequently make presentations using a laptop computer. The solution resides on your desktop allowing you to take your 3touch presenting interface with you anywhere, giving you total mobility and confidence when you present.

In today's environment, where 30 million PowerPoint presentations are given everyday, presenting by projecting files onto a screen is a standard way of communicating information. Yet the technology can still be a distraction in terms of giving all your focus to your audience whether they are customers, colleagues or students.

3touch Personal puts all your presentation material at your fingertips and gives you the chance to focus on projecting and communicating your message. The technology becomes a tool to support you, rather than something to be wrestled with.

3touch Personal allows you to:

- View current and next slide on one screen improving the flow through the presentation
- Skip material which is no longer relevant or return directly to any previous slide
- Navigate through the material while presenting
- View notes and be reminded of your key points
- Track the timing of the session
- Easily present PowerPoint, Word, Excel, pdf and media files
- Project files accessible via your network connection

These are very real fears which can significantly impact the confidence and professionalism of the presenter. 3touch makes the management, control and delivery of presentation material easy – directly addressing these fears and allowing you to concentrate fully on your message and your audience.

Unlike the conventional set-up, with 3touch Personal you don't project your entire desktop onto the screen – the intuitive presenter interface gives you your own view allowing you to move around your presentation material with much greater control.

It gives you the ability to navigate through the presentation, refer to notes, skip material that is not relevant and track the length of the presentation while the audience only sees the slide/information that you intend.

 3touch™ PERSONAL

If you are teaching, training, consulting, delivering a sales pitch or on your feet for any other reason - either within your own organisation's environment, or out in the field - your success will be driven by how well you have prepared and how well you communicate your message.

3touch Personal is a powerful environment which reduces your risks and gives you the chance to be at your best ... the freedom to perform.
